Video Discussion Starter for Church Greeters

Videos can make for great discussion starters at your gatherings for hospitality workers or church greeters.

Use as a discussion starter for your next church greeter training or hospitality training meeting.

I enjoyed the humor and the painfully true characterizations.

Potential discussion questions / points :

- What are some better ideas at small talk?
- Share experiences of greeter small talk that was awesome or awful.
- How to make small talk without being nosy.
- What about the next week?

You could potentially use this video in a church greeter training meeting.

How to Say the Welcome Greeting at a church

Imagine that you are a lay person in your congregation (many of you are).

Your pastor calls you on Thursday and says

> We are preparing the church bulletin.
>
> Would you like to be our liturgist and give the welcome speech on Sunday?
>
> Would you like to be person who says “Welcome to our church?”

Your heart races, the mouth goes dry.

You think:

> Me? I have to say something in front of all those people?

Memo to Church Greeter: Don’t hug a guest!

It was a beautiful Sunday morning. The sun was bright, not a cloud in the sky, and our family makes a Sunday visit to a local church for the second time.

But a church greeter changed my attitude with an attempt at friendliness that went wrong. [Read more…]

Church Greeter Tips: Show Respect for your Guests

Several months ago, a church greeter kissed my wife.

Other church greeters failed to make eye contact.

We startled a church greeter by asking her a simple question

> "Where is the middle school Sunday school class meeting?"

She didn't know the answer and we created an awkward moment. [Read more…]

How to Give Constructive Feedback to Your Church Greeters

A church greeter I never met invaded my personal space.

An apathetic church greeter gave me a bulletin while talking to a friend.

A church greeter wore so much cologne that my eyes watered when standing in his presence. [Read more…]

We will not forget THAT church greeter

It was our third visit to a local church in the last 102 weeks.

We love visiting that church when we are in that city. In fact, whenever we go, we try to invite a friend to that church.

Even through we have not ever experienced followup from filling out their visitor contact card, we haven't let that stop us from visiting.

But this visit produced a moment of social awkwardness with an overly enthusiastic greeter. [Read more…]
